

OFFICERS NAMED BY RED CROSS AT ANNUAL MEETING

Campaign Leaders Selected and Goal Set for Roll Call Next Month.

"If every person in the Fairmont district of the Red Cross Association could have heard the splendid reports given here tonight in regard to the past year's wonderful work, each and every one of them would willingly give their dollar, even if it hurt, in order to continue the work for another year," said Miss Elsie Grafton of Washington, D. C., field representative of the American Red Cross, who was present at the annual meeting of the local chapter in the Red Cross room, last night and made a short address in regard to the work. In addition to the reading of the annual report, an election of officers was held and the business of the coming year was discussed.

The first business of the meeting was the election of officers for the coming year, the following Red Cross members were named to direct the work of the local organization in the coming year: Arthur G. Martin re-elected, president; Mrs. H. E. Engle, vice-president; Miss Frances McCray recording secretary; M. L. Brown, treasurer; Robert T. Cunningham, financial advisor. The advisory committee was named to include: S. D. Goodman, Mrs. S. D. Brady, Mrs. W. H. Conaway.

Following the election of the executive officers the roll-call of officers were named. Harry J. Hartley was elected roll-call chairman and Robert C. Miller was named assistant roll-call chairman. These officers will work in connection with the executives of the organization in preparing plans for the canvass to be held Sunday November 12, the day after Armistice Day.

After the reading of the previous year's reports it was decided at the meeting to aim for 6,000 members in this year's roll-call in order to carry on the work on the canvass. In connection with this goal, Miss Elsie Grafton spoke briefly on the subject. She stated that after hearing the reports everyone would wish to help the cause and willingly pledge themselves to the payment of $1. She told of the work in other cities and said that a five or ten-dollar membership was not too much to ask from those who could afford it, saying, "In Parkersburg the workers told me that they had educated the people to giving $25 and they would not let them think they could get off with less, in view of the purpose the money was used for."

Discusses Plan of Campaign.
Miss Grafton also discussed the plan of campaign and insisted that intelligent workers carry on the canvass. She told of an instance in another city where a worker, who was asked what the dollar for membership would be used for, replied, "Search me." As proof against such workers Miss Grafton suggested the use of pamphlets, having on one side the explanation of the chapter work and on the other side a resume of the county work to be distributed several days before subscription day in order to acquaint people with the nature of the work.

Following Miss Grafton's talk in regard to the roll-call plans, an amendment to the by-laws of the chapter was affected, in the future the annual meeting will be held on the fourth Wednesday in November instead of the fourth Wednesday in October to enable the experienced officers to control the canvass, rather than allowing new officers to begin such important work before they become familiar with the material.

M. L. Brown, treasurer of the local chapter, submitted the following report of the work from October 1, 1921, to September 20, 1922:

Delegates	35.25

Work Reviewed.
Dr. Claude H. Layman, chairman of the Red Cross public health nursing service for the city of Fairmont and Marion County for the year ending October 1, 1922, read the following report of the work:
"The yearly report of the Red Cross Public Health Nursing Service for Marion County makes a very gratifying showing. This work was carried on under the direction of Miss Evelyn Thomas with Miss Martha Ball as visiting nurse for the home nursing section. The report shows 1,743 home visits having been made last year.
"Miss Thomas visited sixty-four of the county schools and examined 2,119 children, giving eighty-one talks to grade children and high school girls.
"Five clinics were organized during the past year, three of which ran fairly continuously. These were the tuberculosis, infant and dental clinics; the latter being very well attended. During health week clinic for children of preschool age was organized, forty children were given thorough examinations. Health week for Marion County made a contribution to the general health of school children besides enabling the community to appreciate the value of public health work.
"A committee made up of representatives of various civic, fraternal, benevolent, educational and religious organizations in the city and county pledged their support.
"On the Sabbath preceding health week ministers preached health sermons. During the week movie houses ran health slides furnished by the State Department of Health, merchants decorated their windows, a committee arranged suitable rooms where clinics were held, health talks in the schools were given and a health parade ended the week's activities. The Marion County Medical Association gave a silver loving cup to the best float. Cho. Cho. the health clown, was employed to teach health to school children and it was generally agreed that this money was well spent.
"When the school children at Rivesville, a coal mining town in Marion County, were given a physical examination it was found that twenty-five of them were from 15 to 20 per cent underweight. With the consent of E. E. Hale, the principal, a special study of the situation was made by Miss Thomas and Miss Eva Blair, the county demonstration agent. Through their efforts diseased tonsils, bad teeth, defective eyes were given the needed medical attention and a schedule was arranged for the purpose of bringing the children up to normal weight. Milk was provided for those who had not been getting it at home and mothers were taught how to select and prepare suitable nourishing food. A nutrition class for the twenty-five pupils was organized early in April and was continued until school closed in June. The class met once a week. Weight lines were charted from week to week and conferences were held with the mothers. Up to June nine of the pupils had gained five or more pounds. It is reported that the others would have made similar gains if their attendance had been more regular. One of the worst cases was a girl who was twenty-one pounds underweight and gained seven pounds. Christmas seals made this good work possible.
"As a result of a tuberculosis clinic held for Marion County very early in the spring of 1922, at which time eleven out of seventeen patients examined were found to need treatment, the local committee of the Tuberculosis Association planned to have a county survey made. In June and July a tuberculosis survey brought to light a many active and suspicious cases of the disease that when the conditions were presented to the Marion County Court by representatives of the various civic organizations, the court at once recognized the necessity of prompt action and promised to make an appropriation to finance a full-time health unit to include a health officer and several public health nurses. The results of the clinics held at Mannington influenced the local board of education to vote to employ a public health nurse for that district. Splendid co-operation was received from the local officials, the medical society, the Rotary Club and the Kiwanis Club. At the clinics the local physicians had the assistance of Dr. William C. White, Dr. Paul V. Bruce, Dr. H. O. Mateer and Dr. N. G. Noak, who are connected with the tuberculosis clinic service in Pittsburgh, Pa. A detailed account of the survey will be published later.
"In August of 1922, the committee having received the resignations of the Misses Thomas and Ball, Miss Beulah Hieber and Miss Frances Corbin, recent graduates from the School of Public Health Nursing at Ann Arbor, Mich., were employed to do county and city nursing for Marion County.
"In September, 1922, Miss May Maloney of Pittsburgh, Pa., was employed in the capacity of county tuberculosis nurse.
"In 1922 the proceeds derived from fees from Metropolitan and other patients paid one-half the salary of the nurse, who gave this bedside care."
Home Service Report. Miss Florence Kneisel, chairman of the home service section of the local chapter of the Red Cross read the following report that covered the work for the past year:
"The home service section of the Fairmont chapter of the American Red Cross which cares for the ex-service man and his dependents has worked with 941 cases during the past year, 639 were cases of wounded and disabled men. This includes 353 compensation cases, 130 vocational training cases, 106 hospital and medical care and 100 cases which were given other forms of service. There were ninety-four visits made during the year, to families of ex-service men mostly, where the problem of the disabled man needed attention. Many hours of work has been spent in making out the many technical papers required to obtain all forms of government money for the disabled man, arranging for compensation, vocational training, hospital treatment and legal aid. In making out the compensation claim many cases require from five to ten forms and affidavits to be properly made out and signed. Former employers, friends, buddies, and doctors are interviewed for evidence.

"In many of our hospital cases we have been called on to make a report of home conditions so that the hospital authorities would know if the home conditions were suitable for home treatment, or probable by the physicians in charge are anxious to obtain the boy's family history in order to give him the proper treatment.

"In Fairmont today we have 39 men taking vocational training in various shops, offices and school and many of our Marion County boys have been placed outside of Fairmont for their training. There are now six Fairmont boys who have been rehabilitated and are now able to earn a gainful livelihood at their new occupation in spite of their previous handicap by wounds and disabilities. So much is to be done for the disabled men in getting their cases properly established that it often takes months before the matter is adjusted.

"The 250 cases of able bodied men, included work in reinstating Government Insurance, various state bonus applications some old service allotment cases, applications for naturalization papers applied for while in camp, duplicate discharges and many other phases of the work which requires much time.

"Five pension applications have been put through by this department for civil war veterans, who were very grateful for the attention given their cases. During the past winter ex-service men hunting work were given employment if possible and meal requests were issued in the amount of $3,445.

"The home service department spent during the last twelve months $1635; this included the salary of the secretary.

"We now have 520 open cases which are receiving attention and new cases coming up every day to be adjusted. The particular work which the Red Cross performs for the ex-service man is not provided for by the government. To outline all the kinds of service rendered would take unlimited time."

WILL WITHHOLD DRY LAW ENFORCEMENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Pending a final interpretation of the statute by the Supreme Court, probably late next month or in December, enforcement of the National Prohibition Law under the ruling holding it to prohibit possession of liquor on foreign ships within American territorial waters will be withheld, according to the indicated policy of administration officials.

NEWS CORRESPONDENTS PLAY TOURNAMENT TODAY

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Sixty or more Washington news correspondents attempted today to keep their eyes on golf balls instead of on news in the annual fall tournament of the Washington Newspapermen's Golf Club. Warren G. Harding, the Marion, Ohio, publisher, however, did not participate because of Mrs. Harding's illness.

In a letter to Secretary Pearson of the club, Mr. Harding said he felt in trim to win—he was fourth in last spring's tournament—but Mrs. Harding's condition precluded another try for the cup this year.

The hooks and slices, mixed with occasional good drives, were made over the different Columbia Country Club course, and early reports indicated that the tournament was under terrific punishment.

TO EMPHASIZE RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Necessity for the extension of relief in the largest possible measure to the distressed population of the Near East is expected to be emphasized by President Harding in a proclamation which he will issue within the next few days calling attention to the annual roll call of the American Red Cross, beginning tomorrow Day and ending Thanksgiving Day.

JURY UNDECIDED

CORSCANT, Pa., Oct. 25.—(By The Associated Press)—The jury which heard the injunction suit filed to prevent the name of Earle B. Mayfield, Democratic candidate for United States senator, from being placed on the November ballot, had been out more than forty hours early today. It is not intimated what was done other than the announcement that it had not agreed on any of twenty-one issues contained in Judge Scarborough's charge.

COAL COMMISSION BEGINS PROBE OF CAUSES OF STRIFE

Two Questions Asked Parties
Most Interested in Improved Conditions.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—As a beginning of its work of investigating the coal industry, the United States Coal Commission, it was announced today, has addressed two queries to representatives of the parties most interested and has asked for answers in writing.

"What, in your judgment, are the elements that have caused and are causing the acknowledged demoralization in the coal industry, and which are working hardship alike upon the parties engaged in the production of coal and the consuming public?" is the first question asked.

The second asks for "the practical remedies which, in your judgment, would eliminate any or all of the elements that you feel are responsible for the condition?"

These queries were submitted to three committees which the commission has conferred with this week and which have been selected to represent the bituminous and anthracite mine operators and the miners' union. The anthracite discussion, in which the commission will meet S. D. Warriner and other employers of the Pennsylvania anthracite region, was scheduled to continue over today.

In addition to the direct queries, the commission has suggested a list of topics upon which it has asked each group to report. These include coal prices, costs of production, labor and profits, strikes, and cost of living in the mining regions. Two additional topics suggested that the commission desires information as to the possibility of standardizing the mines upon the basis of their economies productive capacity, and closing down mines which fall below the standard, and as to the further possibility of standardizing the cost of living for mine workers and the living conditions which must be supplied or afforded the workmen.

Who Found the Balloon?
Imps of Hades armed with red-hot pitchforks could scarcely inflict more cruel, agonizing torture than that endured by many sufferers from neuritis.

The sharp stabbing pains caused by this disease are usually centered about the shoulder, neck, forearm, small of the back or along the thigh and leg in the region of the sciatic nerve.

Sometimes they move from one part to another, sending out lightning jabs which produce untold misery.

If you want prompt relief, apply Tysmol over the part that hurts, and the pain should disappear.

Tysmol is absorbed through the pores of the skin and has a soothing, healing effect upon the inflamed, diseased nerves. Contains no "dope." Guaranteed harmless. Price $1 at Fortney Drug Co.

'BOOSTER WEEK' BEING OBSERVED

Fairview Baptists Seeking to Develop an Interest in Church Objectives.

FAIRVIEW, Oct. 26.—Members of the local Baptist Church are observing what is known as "Booster Week" Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week. The chief aim of the church is to develop an interest in Sunday school and help to attain the main church objectives. Tuesday night, the Rev. T. B. Lawler delivered an able and appropriate sermon on "Church Objectives." Last night, Miss Clara Wilson was leader in a special prayer meeting service, and tonight, the Rev. T. B. Lawler will deliver a second sermon on "Church Objectives." Friday night, a general meeting will be held for all members in which plans for increasing the Sunday school enrollment and gaining church objectives will be discussed from a layman's standpoint.

Special music, a social hour and refreshments are a part of every meeting. Last night and the night before the church was crowded to its capacity, and even larger crowds are expected tonight and tomorrow night.

Keystone Supper.
Announcement has been made that a pie and box supper will be staged in the Keystone School near the Keystone trolley stop tomorrow night beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

An invitation has been extended to all ladies of the community to bring either pie or other foods which will be sold at auction, the proceeds to go to the benefit of the school library. The school library has already 125 volumes, but the teacher, Miss Norma Shuman, is desirous of increasing the number to 500 during the school year. Many local people will attend the program, it is thought, especially the boys and girls from the local high school. The teacher graduated from this institution two years ago with high honors.

"To Please One Woman"
The high school moving picture management has announced tonight's program as to screen production, "To Please One Woman," which will be shown in six reels. A Paramount magazine will be shown as an added attraction. The main picture comes highly recommended and is of particular interest to local movie fans because of the interest taken in the leading lady, Miss Claire Windsor, who is one of the most beautiful actresses in moving pictures, and who, it was rumored some few months ago, would in all probability become the second Mrs. Charlie Chaplin. This, according to the announcement made last evening, will be the first show to be staged this year in the high school auditorium after the completion of the asbestos moving picture booth. The first show will begin at 7:30 o'clock; the machine will be operated by the high school physics class.

Football Resume
Coach J. F. Copp has been putting his football proteges through some stiff practice this week in preparation for the contest which will be staged on local grounds Saturday afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock, with the strong Monongah High aggregation. With the full force of men with which he started the season out for practice last evening the regular team looked like veterans of the sport and ran signals tactically and punctiliously. A full-tied college team, it is said, what may be the result of Saturday's game can only be conjectured. There are few facts upon which to build hope for the game. Both teams have played Farmington High, one winning 22 to 0 and the other 24 to 0. Monongah piled up the bigger score and to the casual observer would have an advantage over the locals. Fairview has a reputation of breaking up hope whether in showing better results or poorer, but with a fighting spirit which has carried them to victory in basketball and baseball, local fans believe that Fairview will have the edge over the visitors in Saturday's game. The probable line up for the contest is as follows: Gump, fullback; Lewis and Cronin, halfbacks; Michael, quarterback; Jones and Mason, ends; McElroy and Underwood, tackles; Wyer and Maness, guards and Dodd, center. This line up, however, is subject to change because of the fight being put up by Mitchell for an end position. Toothman for quarterback, Macchessney for half, O'Delle for guard and Yeager and Murphy for tackles. Odds are being offered by the sporting public that Fairview will win by two of three touchdowns, while many are confident that the visitors will not even score.

Should the locals win from Fairmont High in the game at South Side Park, November 24, and most local fans expect this, a game will be arranged with Mannington for county and valley championship.

Payday November 4
Announcement has been made by the financial secretary that November 4 will be payday for Paw Paw District teachers. This will end the second month of the school term and an institute has been arranged for Fairview by W. D. Yost of the board of education will be the principal speaker, and discussions of a round table nature will complete the program. The high school glee club will furnish the music for the occasion.

Grays Flats Meeting
A parents-teachers' meeting will be held in the Grays Flats School Building Saturday night, beginning 7:30 o'clock. A special music program has been arranged by the teacher, Miss Naomi Grant, and refreshments will be sold for the benefit of the school library. This school was standardized last year and bids fair to reach the 100 mark this year. The score last year was 97.

Nearing Completion.
The addition to the Grant Town School is rapidly nearing completion. The work, under the management of C. E. Snyder and Harold Eddy, has been pushed from the beginning and will be ready for occupancy by Monday of next week.

Take Possession.
Lon Lovelle and family have recently moved into their new property in the Swiger addition.
